

“Who Am I to Judge?” / “Wer bin ich über ihn zu urteilen?”
Lesbians and Gays (LGBT) in the Classroom, Church, and Society
Dr. Bradford E. Hinze / Dr.ⁱⁿ Mary Ann Hinsdale

Using the approach of Communicative Theology in this workshop (120’), we will examine personal and communal challenges of being gay and lesbian (LGBT) in the classroom, church and society.

We will examine a series of ambivalences:

- The ambivalence of communicating LGBT identity.
- The ambivalence of classic sources and topics in Catholic church teaching.
- The ambivalence of the church’s position vis-à-vis the State concerning protecting the rights of LGBT persons and the debate about same-sex marriage.

Bradford E. Hinze ist Professor für Systematische Theologie an der Fordham University in New York.

Mary Ann Hinsdale ist assoz. Professorin am Boston College.
