Paolo Di Muccio-Failla (University of Hildesheim)

Paolo Di Muccio-Failla has a background in theoretical computer science and mathematical logic and is PhD candidate in Applied Linguistics at the University of Hildesheim. He is one of the initiators of the PhraseBase project. His PhD project focuses on the relation between the lexicographic and the ontological components of PhraseBase as an integrated lexical information system.