

Laura Giacomini (University of Innsbruck)

Laura Giacomini is Full Professor of Translation Studies at Innsbruck University since October 2022. Previously, she was an associate professor at the Institute of Information Science and Natural Language Processing of Hildesheim University and a lecturer at the Institute of Translation Studies of Heidelberg University. Her research primarily focuses on (computational) lexicography, terminology and terminography, phraseology and language technologies. She is the PI of PhraseBase, an ongoing project aimed at developing a phraseologically and cognitively oriented lexical information system for different languages, as well as the organiser of the project-related PhrasaLex workshop series (www.phrasalex.net). Besides pursuing other editorial activities, together with Stefan Schierholz she is editor-in-chief of the Dictionaries of Linguistics and Communication Science (Wörterbücher zur Sprach- und Kommunikationswissenschaft, WSK), published by De Gruyter.